Bio & Reach

ONE-LINER

AI agent architect and full-stack engineer working at the intersection of AI, cultural technology, and women's health — based in Auckland, New Zealand.

SHORT BIO

Chan Meng builds agentic AI systems end-to-end — usually solo. She holds a Master of Applied Computing with Distinction from Lincoln University and is part of the Anthropic Partner Network, working remote-first from Auckland.

LONG BIO

Creator of Tam-AI-Ti (a Te Whare Tapa Whā AI wellness coach), CTO of FemTech Weekend, and former website team lead at She Sharp. She spoke at UN CSW 69 in New York; her credo — “subtraction for life, addition for thought.”

...she turns ambiguous founder-level direction into working systems, measurable proof, and reliable product surfaces. ... She combines speed with discipline. ... I would strongly recommend Chan for any ambitious technical team...

Saba Gecgil

Founder & CEO, GAVIGO Inc.

An outstanding engineer whose work combines speed, security, and strategic foresight. She embeds privacy into the core architecture — the kind of engineer who elevates those around her.

Gabrielle J. Hurst

Product Marketing Manager · former CXO, Sanicle

As a solo developer she coded the entire website and parts of the platform from scratch — deep technical skill and the ability to manage complex projects independently.

Omopeju (Paige) Afanu
